Wintle, Ships and guilds, Van Gorcum, Assen and Amsterdam (1978) Unger, R. W., Craft Guilds in the Early Modern Low Countries: Work, Power and...

In recent years, economic-historical, socio-institutional and archaeological studies on various aspects of the Dutch economic history (Posthumus s. 10 R.W. Unger, Dutch shipbuilding before 1800: ships and guilds (Amsterdam 1978); Idem, A.

Session 122: “Progress, stasis, and crisis: demographic.” Helsinki.FI The sixteenth century, specifically concerning shipbuilding, presents a gap in the... A polder is an area of land, generally located in the Low Countries, historical context, the constructional method and philosophy of the vessel itself, and the... half of the estimated 1,800 sea-going ships in Holland in the mid-sixteenth Century. A polder is an area of land, generally located in the Low Countries, historical context, the constructional method and philosophy of the vessel itself, and the...