The Second Wave: Hispanic Ministry and the Evangelization of Cultures (Isaac Hecker Studies)

by Allan Figueroa Deck

Thomas Hecker (December 18, 1819 – December 22, 1888) was the founder of the Paulist Fathers, an American religious order. The Society was established to evangelize both believers and non-believers in order to Hecker believed that the Catholic faith and American culture were not always in harmony.

Hecker studied at every possible opportunity, becoming immersed in Kant’s philosophy and the teachings of the Second Vatican Council. His dedication to the Catholic faith and his commitment to understanding and integrating American culture were evident in his work.

The presence, and impact, of Latino culture on the United States, the election of a Catholic president, and the Second Vatican Council’s affirmation of human culture and the Church’s relationship to “the world” were significant events during Hecker’s lifetime. His work laid the foundation for the Church’s engagement with cultural diversity and the promotion of justice and peace.
